

I have never thought much about the human mind and nature, but it dropped by 90% on the night of November 6, 2012. People, who follow me know that I am a political junkie, read, study, research everything. With regards to the election, I was –along with experts such as Karl Rove- way off the mark. I made two grave miscalculations. I was the one who first formulated the “60% of any society is a heard mentality, unable to think moron” philosophy. I was also the first who argued that “over the last 50 years, the difference between democrats and republicans that democrats have been fully aware of the “60%”, while republicans have been living under the “American people are smart” delusion. And yet, I was still relying on the basic human interest in my election result predictions; this was the first mistake. I also could not find the arithmetic to calculate how many representatives of the “60%” will show up to vote. I now think that over the last four years the “60%” has significantly increased, and –thanks to fine programs, such as “free Obama phone to everyone in Ohio who will vote for Obama”- a much higher percent showed up than I thought.

So, I am done. I am done probably for years. I am not planning to post another blog on the topic. I am disgusted, and fed-up. So, on the “Last Word Right”, let me make one final blog with some prediction.

- On the eve of November 6th, 2012, America once and for all charted a road strait to bankruptcy for herself, with no “exit” sign on this road.
- BY 2016, our debt will exceed 23 Trillion dollars, channeling roughly 85 cent of every dollar to debt service. This will increase tax, drop property values, destroy business, increase unemployment, chase even more companies out of the US, trash the dollar and take gold price over $3,000/ounce.
- With 15 centsof every dollar left in the cashier, all social services will shrink, and the US military will be decimated.
- There will be no one (as no one has been over the last four years) around the world, who takes the US and/or Obama seriously. This, combined with the collapsing Europe, the weak Russia, rapidly weakening China and virtually no US military will have implications around the world no liberal sees today.
- The Arab Spring will continue to turn into an ice storm, and the region, all the way down to Mali, Nigeria, and across to Sudan and Ethiopia, will be in flames (the Muslim Brotherhood will make sure of that). The Arab economies will continue to rot, and they will blame their rotten conditions on Israel, finding a convenient scapegoat to fight against.
- After Obama lost Egypt (it depends on a personal viewpoint how this “loss” was “for” or “against” Obama’s wishes), we about to lose Jordan too. With that, Israel will be encircled.
- Unlike in 1979 (when we had a qualified retard in the White House but the world had a strong Soviet Union, West Germany and France) the world is without leader today. Nothing can be more dangerous than that.
- (as a result), Iran most likely will get the nuke; they use it against Israel or not is almost beside the point. The major issue how many more instable Arab regimes will want and get one, after Iran developed it. The world will have a handful of nuclear bomb in many corrupt, instable, and itching-to-use-it hands. Someone in the “unholy camp” will find it a good idea to use it against Israel. At which time, Israel will respond in kind; the world will quickly fall into “for” and “against” camps, and there it is; you have your recipe for World War III. All this and then some will not depend on the US any more.
- Don’t be surprised if China will wake up one day with the idea of “Well Taiwan should belong to ‘Mother China’”.
- The US energy industry, especially coal, also the land-based oil and gas production will be decimated. Obama just do not see a god reason why should the US stop paying hundreds of billions to his Arab brothers.
- The very people who voted Obama back in, will soon find out: they have “healthcare” now, with a tiny caveat: there will not be a single doctor left, who will prescribe an Aspirin for them. As all of them warned, hundreds of thousands of doctors will leave the profession over the next 24 months and the rest (like my family doctor) will not take Medicare and Medicaid patients. Not one. None. Zero. Nada.
- It is going to be a “big brother is watching you” not just mentality, but system. It will not be too far from a Soviet type big-brother system. You run a large public company and criticize the government, you will receive bad and encompassing publicity; government contracts will be cancelled; if you are a smaller company or individual who is backing republicans, the IRS will show up at your door; they will regulate social media, and communication platforms; they will try to find ways to regulate or shut up cable TV, syndicated radio programs and talk shows; it is socialism folks.

- We will figure out some way to make this twelve million illegals becoming “legal”. Hey! We need high caliber voting block don’t we?
- The number of “Obama supporters”, will exponentially grow (including the 12 million). Obama will make sure of that. Charles Krauthammer said late night on November 6th: “we are looking at a bright future, because the new generation like Marco Rubio comes in”. Unfortunately, Mr. Krauthammer is missing one ingredient: as Churchill said, “you do not need to be afraid of a government; you must be afraid of the people who elected the government”. And this is where is at. The “kind of people” this administration will create (with i.e. “Obama phones” in Ohio), will not vote for Jesus Christ, unless Christ promises free phone, cash, stove, food stamp, free healthcare free something anything. The more people who cannot recognize anyone’s picture but Britney Spears’ is the merrier... Hey! We need more voters!! You can understand it can’t you? This will prevent another republican to become the president of the United States in the next three cycles at minimum. That’s sixteen years from today.
- Speaking of the “presidency”: it is my humble prediction, that Joe Biden will resign from being the Vice President in probably six months, and Hilary Clinton will “graciously” be willing to “shoulder the burden” after which Hilary will run for the presidency in 2016. This all is according to the original plan devised approximately five months ago; about the same time Bill Clinton started to “assist” Obama. The “services” of either Clinton is not cheap, but could be bought.

The list of other disasters coming is long and undistinguished. As an example, we probably will have more IRS agents than members of the Armed Services. Hey! Someone needs to make sure everyone pays in! I mean, “everyone” of the shrinking 49% of America that actually pays anything in.

The only fun in the tragedy will be to watch the same liberals who caused all this finding excuses. That will range from “It is still George Bush’s fault” to “Obama did his best”, “We don’t understand it”, “No, Israel’s elimination had nothing to do with the weak US, along with the US’ non-existent support for Israel. We just don’t understand how it happened”. Of course every single one of the excuses will be idiotic, but what do you expect from a liberal? Neville Chamberlain (ring the bell? anyone?) was just as surprised after he did the deal with Hitler. FDR (the other liberal gemstone) would have been surprised knowing how Stalin (the “gentleman we can trust”) killed 28 million of his fellow citizens between 1945-1953. All in all, the people liberals helped into position resulted in roughly 80 million dead people in one single decade (between 1943-53). Talking about humanity... The fact that every single (I mean: e-v-e-r-y s-i-n-g-l-e) racist bigot was part of the democratic machine (would the name “George Wallace” ring the bell? anyone?) is almost beside the point. So now, we –again- are marching toward and off the liberal cliff. This is in the nutshell.

God help us all, because no one else will.

Signing off.
