

“Kokárda” is a Hungarian word. It –in its simplest form- is a roughly 2” long, 1” wide tricolor ribbon, with the Hungarian flag colors on it. For as long as I remember, kokárda was pinned on every Hungarians’ lapel on March 15th. The occasion is to celebrate March 15th, 1848 the break out of the “1848 Hungarian Revolution”. I have great March 15th memories; national holiday, people on the street, celebrating the day, as well as the beginning of the spring. This entire miracle of March 15th, partially ended between 1998-2002 and is completely gone today. The reason is the ultra-rightwing ruling party in Hungary that was in power between 1998-2002 and since 2010. These people, with their nationalistic, anti-Semitic, anti-ethnic philosophy (represented in Nazi style black uniformed “Gárda” marching up and down the cities) completely, probably forever trashed the meaning of the kokárda, along with happiness, and get-together on March 15th, and the entire philosophy of the holiday. They changed the “national” meaning of the kokárda with “nationalistic”, made it a symbol of right-wing, “close to skinhead” type behavior. This clearly damaged the entire Hungarian society.

This came to my mind thinking about the phrase “let me be clear” used by Obama&Co. It has come to the point, when Obama, anyone in his administration or his press secretary uses the “let me be clear” phrase, there is a 100% chance that a big fat lie will follow. Obama&Co have been lying all the way back from 2008, when he lied about his mad preacher, his gangster pals, lied into everyone’s face about “keep your doctor” (yes, he knew it before they started to organize this madness). They lied about:

- Acorn
- Air Force One fly over Manhattan,
- Fast and Furious,
- Benghazi,
- GM’s shares to the union,
- Stimulus,
- Shovel-ready projects,
- Attacks on the Second Amendment
- Israel,
- Guantanamo releases,
- Al Qaeda is on the run
- Terrorism is decreasing
- GSA,
- IRS targeting,
- James Rosen,
- EPA,
- National Labor Relations Board,
- Green energy companies such as Solyndra,
- Energy production on federal land
- Did we or didn’t we spy on Angela Merkel’s cellphone

They have been constantly lying about unemployment, disability and workers participation;

They have been lying every time they open their mouth (or take a deeper than average breath). As solid, factual record shows, they laid a boldface lie in 18 major topics with regards to ObamaCare alone:

- C-SPAN will be “broadcasting all healthcare negotiation”
- Tax or no tax?
- You can keep your doctor....
- You can keep your insurance....
- People will save $2,500 per year....
- Exemption for everyone...
- Unions will not get a separate deal...
- It will cost less than a trillion in ten years...
- It will be revenue neutral....
- It will not cost a dime to the taxpayers ...
- It will not cost a dime to Medicare and Medicaid...
- We signed up 7.1 million people ... but we don't know who they are ...
- This is not a “Trojan Horse” for a single payer system...
- We will not extend sign-up deadline...
- We will not postpone employer mandate....
- We will not postpone individual mandate....
- We don't know how many people paid...
- How much ObamaCare's public relation campaign cost...

Debbie Wasserman Schultz was caught lying at the Deceivers & Nuts Convention (aka DNC) in September, 2012; they lied about why the DNC left the “Jerusalem” issue off the platform; they also lied about how and why did they put it back. And she was and still is the Chairwoman of the DNC;

Eric Holder lied several times under oath; and he is the Attorney General;

James Clapper lied under oath; and he is the Director of National Intelligence;

Susan Rice lied about Benghazi; and she was the US Ambassador to the UN (now advisor to Obama);

Mike Morrell lied (and keep lying) about Benghazi; and he was the acting CIA Director;

Hilary Clinton repeatedly lied about Benghazi; and she was the Secretary of State;

Steven Chu constantly lied about funding green energy companies and lied about drilling regulations; and he was the Secretary of Energy.

The list of liars and conmen (-women) is ranging from Van Jones, through Valery Jarrett, Christina “the eight percent” Romer, to Janet “we don't have a problem with Arizona” Napolitano, Hilary “what different does it make” Clinton, and John “I voted for before I voted against” Kerry, to name a few; but there are dozens more.

It has become routine, that Nancy Pelosi and/or Obama's chief gangster in the US Senate Harry Read lie into the camera, ---then the broadcasting station plays the 2-10 video clips showing what Nancy or Harry have just lied about. I don't include the list of completely mindless moron statement such as: "We have to pass the bill so you can find out what is in it" (Nancy Pelosi).

They kept Robert Gibbs in the White House as press secretary for a while; Gibbs with his ooooooooo---ahhhhhhhh---uhhhhhhhh routine sounded like a constantly mumbling idiot. As it turned out, Gibbs just had problem to answer question about his boss' lies. Then they hired Jay Carney. The biggest problem I have with Carney, that I regard him as a lowest level of being human; in my mind, Carney is five notch under child molesters, with Harry Read at the same level. You look at Carney and you know, he loves to lie. He enjoys lying. He enjoys looking you in the eye, and tell you a 180 degree different story he told you yesterday, and he expects you to believe it. Jay Carney is Obama. He fits the White House style and modus operandi.

They have been constantly lying about:

- Materials Congress request and they don't turn it over;
- About "transparency" (listen to this, I am not making this up: they censored 194 pages of their own government directives consisting guidelines how to be transparent);
- Lobbyists (whom they have constant meetings across the White House, so they don't need to log them in the WH log-book ...most possibly to serve "transparency")
- They have been lying about mandatory reports that "a" government must turn over to the Congress (on the other hand, since this is a gang not a government, I guess this is all right);
- They are lying about the criminal, undocumented immigrants ICE suppose to deport;
- They have been constantly lying about how the IRS, the EPA, the FCC, (not to mention the Department of Justice) illegally treat different people differently.

Listen, Obama had a phone call and a meeting: a call from/to Putin and a meeting with the Pope. With regards to Putin, we don't even have a solid information of who called whom. And we don't have any information about the topic. Remember the days of "joint communiqué"? And in the Pope's case there were two announcements published as to what they were talking about; the two stories were the polar opposite to each other. Since Obama has been lying into my ears for close to six years, and I have not caught the Pope lying; I go with the Pope's story.

It is really tragic. It is killing the national spirit. I left the country I was born in 27 years ago, because you could not believe anything the government told you. I came to the US under President Reagan, where people trusted their government. They did not always agree with the government, but at least they "agreed to disagree". I did not agree with President Clinton, and President Bush 43 half of the time, but I never doubted their basic mindset of "serving the country". I was not in the US, but as much as I read about it, Jimmy "America's Brain Injury" Carter was dumb as a pile of rock, but at least did not constantly lie. He was dumb, but in his way wanted to serve the country. You can chalk at least that much for Jimmy. Then came the Obama Gang. By now, this country has gotten to the point where 40% of the people automatically assume the opposite what Obama says. Which produced a list of unintended consequence for them too. It is "the" worst state of being when:

- Obama says "we signed up 7.1 million people" ---and you immediately think "yes, maybe 1/3rd of that";
- John Kerry reports something back from Israel, West Bank, Paris, Iran, wherever he goes --- and you immediately assume the opposite what he said;
- Chuck Hagel talks about "different military" ---and all you think "Chuck you are as much of a gangster as your boss, destroying the US military";
- John Koskinen, IRS boss goes to the Congress, and no one believes him;
- John Brennan from CIA goes to the Congress and everyone immediately assumes the opposite what he says;
- Hillary Clinton went up the Hill, and people knew nothing she said was true;
- Eric Holder Attorney General ("The" Attorney General for God sake), lied so much half of the time under oath to Congress, he should be not in, jail; he should be under it. He is a class by himself.
-and of course, there is the gang leader: Barack Hussein Obama. Who either lies about what he knew and when he knew it (gun running, Benghazi, Solyndra, IRS, AP Probe, ObamaCare launch, did we spy on the German Chancellor or not; --these are documented lies about his knowledge), or says one "fact" on Monday and the opposite on Wednesday

And all this time, all these people, start their lies by saying "Let me be clear". Obama started the practice, the rest have been acting like a parrott.

By lying this much, lying all the time, lying about what they will do, are doing and have done, coordinating lies across the entire government and their representatives, this government has become completely worthless. Worse than trash. "Trash" at least has a solid definition as to what it is; Obama&Co does not have that. While writing "unintended consequences" above, I even caught myself thinking: "what if it is not unintended?" This is a very bad way to be a citizen of a country, and think of a government of that country. The lies, the under the table deals, the deceits, cheatings, cover-ups now coming back, rendering the entire government garbage. They are paralyzed. No one believes them. Or, as Obama's mad preacher Jeremiah Wright said years ago: "the chickens come home to roost".

Welcome to Barack Hussein Obama's United States of America.
