

January 5, 2016

I wish people made a bet with me on this...

The more I think about, the more I am looking at how global events are sorting themselves out, watching this mentally paralyzed group of people trying to masquerade as “western world leaders”, adding two and two together, here is what I concluded:

Somewhere between July and October of 2016 (probably closer to October, maybe in the 2nd, 3rd week of it), Israel, supported by Saudi Arabia will bomb Iran back to the stone-age.

Surprised?? Let me tell you why: I have four reasons.

- 1) PM Netanyahu knows, the current American president cannot be trusted, this “president” is a Shia Muslim agent, wanting to destroy America, expand the Shia Muslim sphere and control as much as possible, and destroy Israel. The Prime Minister understands the ramifications of an Iranian nuke, and he is not going to allow it. So, he needs to wait until this “president” is in his last month, unable to prevent Israel and/or respond, by protecting the Iranian side.
- 2) I don’t think the PM has that much of a choice to begin with. He cannot possibly risk that this downgraded herd, a.k.a “The American Voting Public” is going to put Hillary Clinton in the White House; once that happened, Israel forever lost her chances to attack Iran.
- 3) While this US “president” has been on the mission (stated in 1) above), he completely forgot something: that the Shia and Sunni Muslims hate each other far more, than either of them hates Israel. As a result of being busy worrying about how to advance his own (Shia) kind, he might have midwived a coalition between all Sunni Muslims and Israel. Although countries such as Saudi Arabia do not have a strong military –Israel does. These Sunni countries have a lot more money than a venture like this requires plus they have the geographical proximity to Iran. This “coalition” has absolutely everything (beside money; fear, determination, will, structure, government) to clean Iran’s clock once and for all. And they will.
- 4) The “odd man out”, who can be a very strong partner to the coalition, is President Vladimir Putin. Since Pres. Putin is not an imbecile like the US “president”, he knows what he wants; high oil price. Which will be neatly accomplished by taking Iran out of the global oil supply roster for a while.

To wrap this up, I believe there is a coalition forming between all Sunni Muslim countries, Israel, and Russia. This coalition can do whatever it wants and what is necessary, without asking people such as the US “president”, Germany’s Merkel, France’s Hollande for their opinion. The moment this coalition was formed, Obama, Merkel, Hollande, Cameron will be degraded to be bystanders. No one will ask them, and no one will care of their opinion. Like they don’t exist.