I have been doing my absolute best to prove: liberalism, progressivism are a form of brain disorder. Socialism is an advanced form of these two. The problem, the more a society and the people within the society are getting dumber and shallower, the more liberalism thrives. Why are we dumbing the society is another discussion, but let's just say: there is a reason.

But, staying with the today's topic, I need to share this story with everyone. I am frequently commenting in the WSJ, and sometimes run into people, who don't belong to the readership of the WSJ. In fact they "belong" to a well guarded institute where patients must dress up every morning for the doctor's visit. In any case, I've run into one of those today morning. The experience just keeps bringing the validity of my old and frequently repeated thesis:

"60% of any society is a clueless, gutless, herd mentality moron, who can be taken anywhere in the political spectrum"

Sir Winston Churchill knew it, when he said: "Every country has a government it deserves"

Bill Buckley knew it: "Give me the most conservative candidate I still can elect."

In this, everyone likes to cite the first part, while the second part is the important one: "give me the most conservative candidate that this low IQ, dumb, herd mentality lunatic mess (a.k.a. "The American voting public") will still understand, so they vote for the guy"

I also proved the basics of this phenomena in my piece about Tamara Holder:

But let me get on with my story. Today (3/11/16) Kimberley Strassel wrote an excellent piece about Hillary's email issues and how Bernie Sanders handles them (vis-à-vis the Clinton Foundation). Some guy made a comment about known facts (including the already proven very high security materials found on her Home-Brew IT Center in the Toilet ("HBICT")).

(...now the real story begins...) I want to ask you to read Gary McCutcheon's ("the liberal in question"), and my comments; then draw your own conclusion.

GARY (to the guy)

--To which "facts" are you referring?

Me

--Here Gary. Let me help you:

http://www.mygoatopined.com/Writings/15-12.22_Letter to my Liberal friends.pdf

...and Gary...after you read the link, make sure you find the mirror at home...

(if you open this link, there is a string of irrefutable facts as to how the Benghazi situation was handled by Hillary)

GARY (to me)

--I'm going to recommend you read the article again. The reference you include in your comment is bizarre in its lack of relevant information. You do know the Benghazi committee, in spite of its mission to hurt Clinton's presidential bid, has found no mishandling of the events leading up to the violence and killing of the American Ambassador, right?

ME

--Gary, you are Exhibit A for my long held and frequently written thesis, of "60% of any society is a mindless, clueless herd mentality mess, that can be taken anywhere in the political spectrum" It was true how Austrians cheered Hitler while he was occupying them, and it is true today with you and your ilk. Which Gary, in itself would not be an issue if you lived on an island (another of my thesis: let's separate from California, make them the Socialist Liberal Republic of Delusionistan with Nancy Pelosi as queen, establish a strong visa and border control between the USA and them)but you (with your blind herd mentality) are messing up the lives of the rest of us voting for America hater socialist Muslim stooges and criminals. This is where your blindness becomes MY business.

Just keep going Gary, but make sure: you have found the mirror at home.

GARY

--You must be over 80. Your comparison to the Austrians is especially telling in how it is completely unrelated and unimportant to the article. But clearly Hitler still plays a large and distorted role in your life.

ME

--Gary, effective right now, I stop communicating with you, because I don't consider you as "human brain with some IQ in it".

No Gary, you don't need to LIVE through Hitler and the Austrians to have an opinion. It is called READING, STUDYING HISTORY Gary; which obviously has no meaning for someone who follows the herd without ever thinking (a.k.a. member of the American Liberal Voting Block)

Gary, it is a complete waste of time to argue with you and/or try to talk any kind of rational into your hollow brain.

Have a great life.

--The truth hurts, doesn't it Laslo.

Now: I have no problem to argue with people who are able to put two coherent sentences together arguing their position. But "Gary", just like Tamara Holder is just too dumb, too stupid to even contemplate anything like that. If you read through the give-and-take, you see that I laid out facts, data, dates, time stamps, official transcripts and quotes from public appearances. Comes "Gary" with his "You do know the Benghazi committee, in spite of its mission to hurt Clinton's presidential bid, has found no mishandling of the events leading up to the violence and killing of the American Ambassador, right?" I mean.... instead of saying anything (anything at all) about the stack of data I presented, he gave this reply.

And gang, this is the biggest, gravest danger to our country today. Can you possibly imagine, that "the" (only) two potential nominees for the presidency of the United States representing one of the two major parties are: 1) an old senile communist nut job, who hates everything that made America "America", and 2) a proven corrupt liar, most likely soon to be criminally indicted. And people cheering them!! Just think about how far this society has sunk from JFK's "ask what you can do for your country" democrats. This lunatic herd, this mindless mess a.k.a. the American liberal voting block has gotten this low.

It is just sad. Sad, because they will eliminate this great country, and they will be the most surprised when that happened.

And Gary McCutcheon (Tamara Holder ...) well represents everything that is wrong in this country.
